FOREST ONE GLIMPSE OF Stephen Burke's precocious skills was enough to moderate Nottingham Forest's disappointment at not producing a convincing victory over the part timers from Ayr at the City Ground last night.

Burke, only just past his 16th birthday, made his entry to first team football in the Anglo-Scottish semi-final and did enough with one wave of his articulate left foot to show Reds supporters that here is a star in the making. Forest were leading by a first half goal from Larry Lloyd when Burke made his 62nd minute entry as replacement for Martin O'Neill. Nine minutes later he took a superb crossfield ball from John Robertson in his stride and clipped over a corner which landed at the head of Peter Withe for a second and vital goal. The score stayed at 2-0. Forest could have been reasonably satisfied with their performance on a night when they were preparing to celebrate their first clean sheet since they had won Notts County in the opening competitive match of the season, the Scots 1-0.

Substitute Jim McSherry made a probing run on the left after changing down a Viv Anderson clearance and when John Middleton created a chance for himself but his rising drive cleared the bar by inches. It was left until Burke's introduction to brighten Forest's evening. Although favouring his educated left foot, Burke operated for the last 23 minutes as a right-winger and apart from laying on the kick and scored to give Ayr a second goal, he did little of eliminating Forest over the two legs. His goal two minutes from time allowed Forest to go to Scotland with a slender lead to defend and judging by the battle they had done against Kilmarnock in the quarter-final, it will be far from easy for them to defend. Ayr are not as skillful as a side as Kilmarnock which are competitive and in front of their own fans will ask serious questions of a Forest side which has always been vulnerable. Forest could point to the fact that they have been missing with a hamstring injury as an excuse for their poor performance but, once again, they had enough opposition to prosper. Burke had the perfect lift off with the goal after 18 minutes from Lloyd — his first for the club. There were three book-

Wagner's goal shocks Derby

Derby County's chances of progress in the E.U.F.A. Cup. Disciplined defensive play had frustrated AEK Athens in last night's game in Athens but their night was ruined after 65 minutes. Skilful left-winger Marvos backheeled a through ball which he drilled his shot past Graham Moseley from 15 yards. The 35,000 crowd had been growing progressively more restless but the breakthrough brought a complete change of atmosphere — and a second goal soon followed. A right wing move troubled Derby and when Paos crossed the ball unmarked to the net, Wagner was left unattended to put the finishing touch. Derby were beaten side although, for so long they had looked likely to return to the Baseball Ground for the second leg as favourites to win the tie. They were fortunate to see a shot from Nikolettos in the fifth minute but this was a rare threat to the composure of their goalkeeper. The loss of injured Archie Gemmill after his injury did not help, however, and Colin Todd was booked, but Wagner's performance was superb. Wagner's decisive goalburst. Attendance: 9,146.

Notts. sweep aside BARNESLEY RES. 3

County Reserves ended their run of four successive defeats when they swept aside Barnsley's challenge with three second half goals. County, who fielded nine players with Second Division experience, should have built up a commanding lead in the first half, but a combination of poor shooting and fine work by Sides, the visiting goalkeeper, kept the scoreline blank at the interval. The first goal came after 47 minutes when the ever-reliable Brian Stubbs eventually beat the keeper with a header from a corner by Steve Carter. Before Ayr snatched their vital goal, Graham was just what was needed from Davy McCulloch and in the late stages Malcolm Robertson brought his most feared striker, brought Middleton to his knees with an angled drive. After the goal, Forest made a late bid to re-establish their two-goal lead but they were then and then Bower had a fierce shot competently handled by Andy Geoghegan. Then right on the final whistle Butlin hammered the ball into the net. He had already been pulled up for a foul. There were three book-
